Cookies

EU law requires us to inform you that cookies are in use at this website.

Cookies are small files downloaded to your computer when you visit a website. Most websites use them, and they all have different uses. For example, some cookies help your browser to remember your login details, while others will help your browser to remember the contents of your shopping cart. Others, such as those used by Google Analytics, help webmasters understand how visitors use their website and improve the visitor experience.

If you don't want cookies to be downloaded onto your computer, you can change your browser settings to disallow cookies. However, it's worth remembering that if you do turn off cookies in your browser, some websites you visit may not look as they should, and may have reduced functionality.

Now that you have read this information, you agree that by continuing to use this website you accept the use of cookies.
